SCHOOL NOTES

September 2011

Off to a Great Start!

God is good! I can't tell you how excited I am about the great things going on here at Liberty Christian!

The campus looks great with new paint, signs and even some color: the fruit of the spirit pillars on the gym.

Staff members have put in enormous effort to make the school a safe, inviting and comfortable environment.

Students have also put effort into this year's chapels. At Wednesday chapel, students are leading music and taking ownership of their worship.

Our student council is also planning some events, with a goal to have at least one event a month.

I've truly enjoyed getting to know your precious children. I've also gotten to know many parents, volunteers, and supporters of Liberty. I want you to know I welcome your feedback, questions, and comments. I often say that I can't fix a problem I don't know about.

I also want this school to be a partnership. As parents, you are the primary educators of your children. We want to come alongside you in providing a great, loving education that addresses all their needs—academically, spiritually, and physically.

We crave your input and feedback so that we can continuously improve what we do here. As you know, our dedicated staff views this school first and foremost as a ministry, and we are passionate about reaching students.

Thanks to the parents who attended our first Liberty Forum on the topic of dress code! Please let me know of other topics that might need to be addressed in a similar forum.

God Bless You!

Annual Theme - Fruit of the Spirit

You may have noticed the red pillars on the gym listing the fruit of the spirit found in Galatians 5:22-23.

This is our annual theme, with a different fruit for every month. This month we are focusing on Self-Control.

Teachers are incorporating this fruit into the classroom, and are actively looking for evidence of this fruit among students.

At the end of the month, one student from each grade will be chosen as the Character of the Month. The winner will have exhibited the fruit of the spirit and will be recognized with a picture and write-up on a bulletin board.

You will also see this month's winner in next month's newsletter.

You are encouraged to discuss this theme and the fruit of self-control with your student.

Jr. High Science Camp - showing God's love

You can imagine I was a little concerned when I received the following voicemail message left in an emotional voice: "Hi, I'm from Mistletoe Elementary and I'd like to speak with you right away about what your Jr. Highers did at Cinder Cone."

I took a deep breath and returned the call. This is the story I heard:

The same day your Jr. High science campers were at Cinder Cone, students from Mistletoe Elementary were there. One of those students (my godson) is a 13 year old with cerebral palsy. His goal was to climb all the way to the top. His physical condition made this goal quite a challenge.

As he started out, he was encouraged, supported, and greeted by the students and staff of Liberty Christian. Every step of the way, he was being helped with smiles, words and physical support.

It was due to your school that he completed the climb! As he returned to the bottom I could see the tears streaming from his mother's eyes. What a wonderful Christian example your students set!

I know that often schools get only negative feedback, and since I'm associated with Mistletoe, I know the importance of sharing the good news too.

Please pass on my thanks for making this a memorable event for one special boy.

God Bless You!
